ROOSEVELT RECEIVING THE PUBLIC SAYS AFT

The President, Denouncing His 'Over-Ambitious' Opponent, Declares the Colonel Doesn't Know Meaning of 'Square Deal'

BIRMINGHAM, April 25.—President Taft, according to a thing of 15,000 people, received the public this afternoon, denouncing Theodore Roosevelt as a man who deceived the people and is deceiving them now, and charged that the words "squared and treated" the President's words.

"And that's the idea of a square deal," explained the President. "I told you if Abraham Lincoln would do anything like that."

"No," declared the crowd.

Denouncing the People.

President Taft, in the course of his speech, said that Colonel Roosevelt is an "over-ambitious" man, that he does not "know what a square deal means" and that he is "deceiving the people and deceiving them with it."

"I come to Massachusetts this time," said the President, "and I find that I am deceived to find the great old State where most of my ancestors are buried. The time I came from a sense of highest duty."

"In 1890 Theodore Roosevelt succeeded the martyred McKinley as President of the United States. In 1901 Theodore Roosevelt was elected Vice President. He was elected as Vice President, and he was elected as Vice President, and he was elected as Vice President."

"Neither in thought, or word, or deed have I been deceived to find the friendly old State of Massachusetts."

"I tell you that I am deceived to find the friendly old State of Massachusetts."

New Court Ruling Justifies Certain Strikes by Labor

Breach of Contract Cause of Action by Employees in Seeking Justice.

Judge Pierce of the Suffolk Superior Court ruled today that a labor union was justified in calling a strike if an employer broke an agreement with the union and that the calling of the strike was legal. Making a breach of contract the cause of a strike is new in Massachusetts, and this ruling is the first one here.

The decision follows a number of suits brought by the George A. Fuller Construction Company against John B. Alden, the international president of the United Association of Plumbers, Gasfitters and Steamfitters, and other officers of the union were named in the suits.

It was charged by the union in its defense that the George A. Fuller Construction Company had violated the contract with the association represented by Alden. This was on work done on the Capitol Plaza Hotel and a number of other buildings being erected in Boston.

LAST RICHESON PLEA TOMORROW

Counsel Draw Up Petition Preliminary to Fight to Save Slay.

The petition for the commutation of the death sentence imposed upon Clarence V. Richeson was filed today by Attorney William A. Morse and John L. Lee. It is merely a formal petition and the attorneys will try to secure some other means of commutation before the trial. The petition is based upon the fact that Richeson is a man of good character and that he is a native-born American citizen.

Richeson was arrested on the charge of the murder of a woman named Mary Jane Smith. He was charged with the murder of the woman on the night of the 10th of March last.

CARPATHA OPERATOR ORDERED MARCONI TO 'KEEP MOUTH SHUT'

Head of Wireless Service Denies Knowledge of Messages—Plan Made to Sell the Disaster Stories

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Guilherme Marconi, head of the great wireless system that bears his name, denied before the Senate Investigating Committee today that he had in any way interfered with, or suppressed the news from the Titanic disaster either from the wreck or the rescue ship Carpathia. A moment later Chairman William Alden Smith confronted him with four messages picked up by the battleship Florida in which Chief Engineer Sammis, of the Marconi office, directed the operators on the Carpathia to be silent as to their stories.

"Keep your mouth shut!" read one message signed "Marconi" and addressed to the wireless man on the Carpathia.

ARRANGED TO SELL STORIES.

It was evident from the messages that Mr. Marconi again and again denied knowledge that an effort was made to arrange for the sale of the operators' stories. He denied to them that:

"Arranged for your extensive story for the Boston Herald, Mr. Marconi, according to my getting out your own wire. Where are you?"

SAYS HE SAW TITANIC'S ROCKETS WOMEN FAINT AS SHIP PASSES TITANIC DEAD

Ernest Gill, Donkeyman on the California, Says His Captain Ignored the Signals.

I am twenty-nine years of age, single, native of Yorkshire. I was making my third voyage in the Californian.

On the night of April 14, I was on duty from 8 p. m. until 12 midnight in the engine room. At 11:56 I came on deck. The stars were shining brightly. It was very clear, and I could see for a long distance. The ship's engines had been stopped since 10:30 and she was drifting amid ice. I looked over the rail on the starboard side, and saw the lights of a very large steamer about ten miles away. I could see her broadside lights. I watched her for fully a minute. They could not have helped but see her from the bridge and lookout. At 12 o'clock I went to my cabin. I woke my mate, William Thomas. He heard the ice crunching along the ship and asked: "Are we in the ice?"

I replied, "Yes. It must be

H. J. PITTMAN, THE THIRD OFFICER OF WRECKED TITANIC

clear off to the starboard though for I saw a big vessel going along full speed. She looked as if she might be a big German."

I turned in but could not sleep. In half an hour I turned out, thinking to smoke a cigarette. Because of the cargo I could not smoke 'tween decks, so I went on deck again.

I had been on deck about ten minutes when I saw a white rocket about ten miles away on the starboard side. I thought it must be a shooting star. In seven or eight minutes I saw distinctly a second rocket in the same place, and I said to myself, "This must be a vessel in distress."

It was not my business to notify the bridge or the lookouts but they could not have helped but see them.

I turned in immediately after, supposing that the ship would pay attention to the rockets. I knew no more until I was awakened by the chief engineer, calling, "Turn out to render assistance." It was then 6:40.

"The Titanic has gone down," he explained. I went on deck and found the vessel under way and proceeding full speed. She was clear of the field ice, but there were plenty of bergs about.

I went down into the engine room on watch and heard the second and fourth engineers in conversation. Mr. J. C. Evans is the second and Mr. Morton is the fourth. The second was telling the fourth that the third officer had reported rockets going up in his watch. I knew then that it must have been the Titanic I had seen.

The second engineer added that the captain had been notified by the apprentice officer whose name I think is Gibson, of the rockets. The skipper had told him to Morse with a light to the vessel in distress.

Says His Ship Was Within Twenty Miles of the Doomed Vessel When She Went Down.

Mr. Stone, the second navigating officer, was on the bridge at the time, said Mr. Evans.

I overheard Mr. Evans say that Morse lights had been shown, and more rockets went up. Then, according to Mr. Evans, Mr. Gibson went to the captain again, and reported more rockets. The skipper told him to continue to Morse until he got a reply, but no reply was received.

The next remark I heard the second pass was "Why the devil didn't they wake the wireless man up?"

The entire crew of the steamer have been talking among themselves about the disregard of the rockets. I personally urged several to join me in protesting against the conduct of the captain but they refused because they feared to lose their jobs.

A day or two before the ship reached port, the skipper called the quartermaster who was on duty at the time the rockets were discharged into his cabin. They were in consultation about three-quarters of an hour. The quartermaster declares he did not see the rockets.

I am quite sure the Californian was less than twenty miles from the Titanic, which the officers report to have been our position. I could not have seen her if she had been more than ten miles distant, and I saw her very plainly.

I have no ill will towards the captain or any officer of the ship and I am losing a profitable berth by making this statement. I am actuated by the desire that no captain who refuses or neglects to give aid to a vessel in distress should be able to hush up the matter.

reverted on the ocean. The scene was heartrending.

"We passed within a hundred feet of the southernmost drift of the wreckage and at that point could not see whether the bodies were those of men or women. We saw one woman in her bedclothes with a white sheet drawn over her head. Several women passengers screamed and left the ship as they saw the bodies. There was another woman fully dressed, with her face right above the body of a man, and that looked like a St. Bernard."

"We made out the bodies of three men clinging to one another, and several women were seen clinging to one another. The scene was heartrending. FAMOUS WAR PICTURES IN SUNDAY AMERICAN

Don't Fail to Get the New Brady
War Photographs Showing
Field of Gettysburg.

General Meade in the famous "wheel barrow" picture is the subject of a specialty colored frontispiece in the number of the Sunday AMERICAN edition of Brady's War Photographs and a full page of text. This issue will be sent out Monday. The frontispiece picture shows Meade in the wheel barrow
and the text is a full page of text.

The scene in the "wheel barrow" at Gettysburg is shown again on July 2, 1902, the second day of fighting. At 4 o'clock General Meade's army was ordered to retreat from the field. The dramatic scene first for possession of Little Round Top is now going on.

The hill in the background of the picture,
which is known as the "Devil's Den,"
is the scene of the famous "Pickett's Charge." The picture shows the General Meade's army in the field of Gettysburg. The scene is a full page of CAMPANILE OF VENICE, REBUILT FROM RUINS.

J. P. MORGAN.

BRADY WAR PICTURES EDUCATE THE YOUNG, SAYS G. A. R. LEADER

The Brady War Pictures, I am sure, will prove very educating to the younger generation, and I believe that the AMERICAN is doing a great good in distributing these pictures at so small a price.
It is difficult to make the younger generation understand and realize what the Civil War meant to this country, and these pictures will tend to give them this realization, because they will look at photographs where they would not bother to read stories of the great war.—Edward H. Jewell, great commander and adjutant of G. A.
R. Post 125, Somerville, of central stock of the Department of Massachusetts.

The picture is one that will appeal to the youth and to the later generation alike.
It shows the killing of General Warren at Gettysburg. The picture is a full

BISHOP BOWLING IS CONSECRATED

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 23.—The Right Rev. Austin Bowling, formerly rector of the Cathedral of this city, was consecrated Bishop of the Diocese of Rhode Island, today, in the presence
of twelve bishops, scores of ministers,
and a vast congregation. The ceremony filled the vast edifice. Prominent
among the congregation were Governor
and Mrs. Follen and the Governor's personal staff, Mayor and Mrs. Henry Dethle of this city and many of the prominent
citizens of the State.

It was the second time that this new man had been consecrated in Providence
since the consecration of Bishop Smith in 1887, and it was the first time that the diocese had had an opportunity of witnessing this great ecclesiastical function.

Bishop Bowling is a son of the diocese and is widely known throughout the diocese. He was formerly rector of the Cathedral of this city, and was consecrated Bishop of the Diocese of Rhode Island, today, in the presence
of twelve bishops, scores of ministers,
and a vast congregation. The ceremony
filled the vast edifice. Prominent
among the congregation were Governor
and Mrs. Follen and the Governor's personal staff, Mayor and Mrs. Henry Deth-
le of this city and many of the prominent
citizens of the State.

HILTON'S "Natural" OR "AN-A-TOM-IC" COAT

Just notice the LINES of a Hilton Suit. See with what grace and accuracy
it fulfills its purpose.
There is something more in this than mere shears—there
is sheer intelligence of the highest order.

There is that individuality expressed which is the fruition of YEARS of effort. There is that quiet elegance, naturality and suggestion of strength and
bodily beauty,
which all men
want and we alone can offer.

Then distinctiveness is a matter of DESIGN—their individuality a matter of INTUITION—
their tailoring a mat-

LAUD HOME RULE
IN FANEUIL HALL

Home rule was the subject of a lecture given by Mr. J. H. P. at Faneuil Hall last evening. The lecture was well attended and the speaker was highly praised for his clear and concise presentation of the subject. He pointed out the advantages of home rule and the disadvantages of the present system. He also pointed out the steps that should be taken to secure home rule. The lecture was a success and the speaker was highly praised for his clear and concise presentation of the subject.

Good Clothes and Nothing Else

It's the "Nothing Else" we want you to remember just as much as the "Good Clothes." It means that there's no poor merchandise here at any price.

It means that we exercise the utmost care in selecting our merchandise, excluding everything which falls short of the highest standard in style in all-wool fabric and in fine tailoring.

It means that he who is most uninformed regarding styles and qualities in men's clothes can buy here in perfect safety, knowing that there are no poor qualities nor hidden defects to guard against at this Live Store.

And—since absolute perfection is unattainable—it means that should anything you buy here prove not exactly to your liking—no matter why—we're here to "make good" with new merchandise, or your money back.

Most Uncommon Suits at The Commonest of Low Prices

There's nothing unusual about selling Blue Serges at $12.50. It's the suit—not the price—that will surprise you here. If you can find a better suit than this $12.50 (colored Serge) sell at less than $18 anywhere along Washington street, you'll find something to make you wonder before. We're selling hundreds at $12.50 $15.00 Kuppenheimer Suits

There are fabrics in this line—the very cream of the looms—that you'll find nowhere else—new effects—striking shades—penicil stripes, shepherd checks and mixtures—the kind that hit hard with the men who care. There's a dash and rightness in the young men's styles—a dignity and unmistakable air of worth in the styles for their elders—and all are rightly tailored to the finest degree. You won't find their equal anywhere at
